in historical studies collective memory is most often viewed as the product of nationalizing strategies carried out by political élites in the hope to create homogeneous nation states in contrast this book asserts that collective memories develop out of a never ending triangular negotiation between local national and transnational actors this work is the third small wars journal anthology focusing on radical sunni islamic terrorist and insurgent groups it covers this professional journal s writings for 2015 and complements the earlier global radical islamist insurgency anthologies that were produced as vol i 2007 2011 published in 2015 and vol ii 2012 2014 published in 2016 this anthology which offers roughly five hundred pages of additional analysis follows the same general conceptual breakdown as the earlier works and is divided into two major thematic sections one focusing on jihadi terrorism insurgency and the islamic state in context and the other focusing on us allied policy and counter jihadi and counter islamic state strategies this book provides a comprehensive socio legal examination of how global efforts to fight climate change by reducing carbon emissions in the forestry sector known as redd have affected the rights of indigenous peoples and local communities in developing countries grounded in extensive qualitative empirical research conducted globally the book shows that the transnational legal process for redd has created both serious challenges and unexpected opportunities for the recognition and protection of indigenous and community rights it reveals that the pursuit of redd has resulted in important variations in how human rights standards are understood and applied across multiple sites of law in the field of redd with mixed results for indigenous peoples and local communities in indonesia and tanzania with its original findings rigourous research design and interdisciplinary analytical framework this book will make a valuable contribution to the study of transnational legal processes in a globalizing world this title is also available as open access through the lens of the now defunct singapore government linked company glc called international trading company intraco this book offers a historical analysis of the country s economic development strategy since its independence in 1965 glcs like intraco were introduced by the former deputy prime minister the late dr goh keng swee a pioneer of singapore s remarkable transformation from third world to first to fulfil strategic economic objectives as the country s lifeblood has been entreport trade intraco was created to blaze a trail overseas by facilitating commercial ties behind the iron curtain during the cold war the eventual divestment of intraco highlights the same way in which the singaporean state is acutely responsive to changing global economic and geopolitical trends this book is useful to academics students and the interested lay reader for its insights into the role of the state in economic development in post colonial countries international trade and investment have enabled many countries in the asia pacific region to boost economic growth and have lifted millions out of poverty as the asia pacific region continues to thrive economically trade and investment barriers are being dissolved and eliminated as countries begin to depend on each other more trade policy is gradually becoming a useful measure to achieve inclusive and sustainable development trade and investment are linked to the environment and social issues hence their impacts are also multi dimensional it has now been recognized that sustainable production and consumption are essential for sustainable development countries realize that they are not able to approach global and regional problems on their own and require cooperation both at the level of government and business as a result the region has been active in concluding regional cooperation frameworks which routinely are centered on trade and investment in the meantime business has forged regional integration through the formation of regional value chains and production networks while governments have paved the way for the expansion of such production networks through the formation of regional trade agreements and economic partnerships thus the asia pacific trade agreement apta which is the oldest preferential trade agreement in the region with a large consumer base can play an important role in filling this gap given a slow progress in the multilateral negotiations in the wto especially when the members have started questioning the utility of the negotiations after 15 years and a lack of consensus on how to move forward the regional trade agreements can play a vital role even if they pose a challenge to the multilateralism selected liberalisation of trade and economy in present time can become a building block for future multilateral negotiations one of the reasons for the surge in these preferential trade agreements is to make binding commitments on wto plus and wto beyond issues while there are many agreements that exist in asia and the pacific there is no such attempt to consolidate them in one umbrella framework understanding the benefits of the consolidation one such initiative was started by escap a few years back the reci initiative for market integration could well be facilitated by apta however it cannot deliver unless it transforms itself in a new generation agreement regional integration and cooperation are also important to meet the 2030 agenda for sustainable development instead of wasting resources in discussing a new institutional framework it would be more effective to use the existing framework and for the asia pacific economies the apta provides an existing institutional platform the cases discussed in this book prepare a ground for the future and it is expected that all the stakeholders member states of escap private sector as well as researchers would benefit from this publication on apta south south regional integration and sustainable development
